Because of the abuse of the antibiotics, the bacteria and viruses have multiple drug resistance, and mutate or vary and cause an epidemic disease, such as SARS, bird flu, and enterovirus, etc. The most basic way of avoiding the infection is to wash the hands often to eliminate the bacteria and viruses. However, the ordinary tap water has no sterilization ability, and one can be infected once neglecting. Besides, it's possible that the harmful bacteria and viruses exist in the food we eat even our environment.
